To whom it may concern;

6/12/2011

On December 22, 2010 I was arrested on a charge of Burglary occupied Dwelling case # 2010-CF1800.

Well on December 23, 2010 the Honorable Judge David C. Morgan of the 19th Judicial Circuit Court of Indian River County in Vero Beach Fla. found no probable Cause on the primary charge of Burglary occupied Dwelling and released me on a R.O.R., I couldn't be released cause I had a $15,500 on 3 misdemeanors.

The finding of No Probable Cause by Judge David C. Morgan on the charge I was arrested for is on record and in writing at the Indian River County Court house.

I've asked my Public Defender R. Blak Smith numerous of times to file numerous of motions on my behalf and he never filed any motions on my behalf including a motion to Dismiss. instead he insisted that I take the deal the state attorney offered.

I've stated to the Public Defender that according to the Florida Rules of the Court, Rules Regulating the Florida Bar, Rules of Professional Conduct Rule 4-3.8 Special responsibilities of a prosecutor.

The prosecutor in a criminal case shall:

(A) Refrain from Prosecuting a charge that the prosecutor knows is not supported by probable cause, and my Public Defender at the time should have filed a motion to have my charge of Burglary occupied Dwelling Dismissed due to the fact that Judge David C. Morgan found No Probable Cause on the Charge I was arrested for and released me on a R.O.R.

The Prosecutor in my case Ms. Victoria L. Winfield knew she could not prosecute me on the charge of Burglary occupied dwelling due to the fact that the Judge found No Probable Cause and the prosecutor violated rule 4-3.8 and I would like something done about the prosecutor violating one of the rules of the Florida Courts, I would like to try and have my charge and time that I got for the charge terminated due to the fact of ~~prossie~~ prosecutor proctorial misconduct.

REPORT OF
MAGISTRATE JUDGE

I. Introduction

The plaintiff, Anthony S. Quinlin, a detainee at the Indian River County Jail, filed a pro se civil rights complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §1983, raising claims of excessive force, arising from events surrounding his arrest on December 22, 2010.

This Cause is before the Court upon a preliminary screening of the complaint pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1915. The plaintiff is proceeding in forma pauperis.

II. Analysis

As amended, 28 U.S.C. §1915 reads in pertinent part as follows:

Sec. 1915 Proceedings in Forma Pauperis

* * *

(e) (2) Notwithstanding any filing fee, or any portion thereof, that may have been paid, the court shall dismiss the case at any time if the court determines that -

* * *

(B) the action or appeal -

* * *

(i) is frivolous or malicious;

(ii) fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted; or

(iii) seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief.

This is a civil rights action Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §1983. Such actions require the deprivation of a federally protected right by a person acting under color of state law. See 42 U.S.C. 1983; Polk County v Dodson, 454 U.S.312 (1981); Whitehorn v Harrelson, 758 F. 2d 1416, 1419 (11 Cir. 1985. The standard for determining whether a complaint states a claim upon which relief may be granted is the same whether under 28 U.S.C. §1915(e) (2) (B) or Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(b) (6) or (c). See Mitchell v. Farcass, 112 F.3d 1483, 1490 (11 Cir. 1997) ("The language of section 1915(e) (2) (B) (ii) tracks the language of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b) (6)"). A complaint is "frivolous under section 1915(e) "where it lacks an arguable basis either in law or in fact." Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 (1989); Bilal v. Driver, 251 F.3d 1346, 1349 (11 Cir.), cert. denied, 534 U.S. 1044 (2001). Dismissals on this ground should only be ordered when the legal theories are "indisputably meritless," id., 490 U.S. at 327, or when the claims rely on factual allegations that are "clearly baseless." Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 31 (1992). Dismissals for failure to state a claim are governed by the same standard as Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b) (6). Mitchell v. Farcass, 112 F.3d 1483, 1490 (11 Cir. 1997) ("The language of section 1915(e) (2) (B) (ii) tracks the language of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b) (6)"). In order to state a claim, a plaintiff must show that conduct under color of state law, complained of in the civil rights suit, violated the plaintiff's rights, privileges, or immunities under the Constitution or laws of the United States. Arrington v. Cobb County, 139 F.3d 865, 872 (11 Cir. 1998).

To determine whether a complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, the Court must engage in a two-step inquiry. First, the Court must identify the allegations in the complaint that are not entitled to the assumption of truth. Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)). Twombly applies to §1983 prisoner actions. See Douglas v. Yates, 535 F.3d 1316, 1321 (11 Cir. 2008). These include "legal conclusions" and "[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action [that are] supported by mere conclusory statements." Second, the Court must determine whether the complaint states a plausible claim for relief. Id. This is a "context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense." The plaintiff is required to plead facts that show more than the "mere possibility of misconduct." The Court must review the factual allegations in the complaint "to determine if they plausibly suggest an entitlement to relief." When faced with alternative explanations for the alleged misconduct, the Court may exercise its judgment in determining whether plaintiff's proffered conclusion is the most plausible or whether it is more likely that no misconduct occurred.¹

Statement of the Claims

Quinlin alleges that on December 22, 2010, Police K-9 dog handler, Kevin Keitz used his attack dog in an unlawful manner. He claims that he was apprehended and ordered to get on the ground.

¹ The application of the Twombly standard was clarified in Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. 1937 (2009).

While on the ground, and defenseless, the plaintiff claims that Keitz allowed his K-9 charge to twice attack him, resulting in documented medical injuries. He alleges that Deputy Sheriff John Clark took him into custody despite his numerous requests for emergency medical assistance. ²The plaintiff seeks monetary damages.

He claims the primary charge of burglary of an occupied dwelling was subsequently dropped for lack of probable cause.

Use of Force

Claims of excessive force by police officers are cognizable under 42 U.S.C. §1983. Fundiller v. City of Cooper City, 777 F.2d 1436 (11 Cir. 1985). A claim that a law enforcement officer used excessive force in the course of an arrest, an investigatory stop, or any other seizure of a free citizen is to be analyzed under the Fourth Amendment and its "reasonableness" standard. Graham v. Connor, 490 U.S. 386 (1989); Vinyard v. Wilson, 311 F.3d 1340, 1346-47 (11 Cir. 2002); Lee v. Ferraro, 284 F.3d 1188, 1197 (11 Cir. 2002); Ortega v. Schram, 922 F.2d 684, 694 (11 Cir. 1991).

Such an analysis requires a court to balance "the nature and quality of the intrusion on the individual's Fourth Amendment interests against the importance of the government interest alleged to justify the intrusion." Graham, supra, quoting United States v. Place, 462 U.S. 696 (1983). The factors to consider when balancing an arrestee's constitutional rights and the need for use of force include (1) the severity of the crime at issue; (2) whether the suspect poses an immediate threat to the safety of the officers or others, and (3) whether the suspect is actively resisting arrest or attempting to evade arrest by flight; Graham, supra, 490 U.S. at 396; Vinyard, supra, 311 F.3d at 1347; Lee, supra, 284 F.3d at 1197; and in determining whether the force applied was "reasonable" under the circumstances, the Court must examine: (1) the need for the application of force; (2) the relationship between the need and the amount of force that was used; and (3) the extent of the injury inflicted upon the individual to whom the force was applied. Graham, at 396; Vinyard, at 1347; Lee at 1998. Although the test applied by the Eleventh Circuit previously included a subjective prong, examining whether the force was applied maliciously, see e.g. Leslie v. Ingraham, 786 F.2d 1533, 1536 (11 Cir. 1986), that factor was eliminated from the analysis by Graham and other cases establishing that the excessive force inquiry should be completely objective, thereby excluding consideration of the Officer's intentions. Lee, supra, 284 F.3d at 1198 n.7. Thus, "reasonableness" for purposes of such an analysis is judged according to an objective standard under the totality of the circumstances, without regard to the officers' underlying intent. Graham, supra at 389. In Lee, the Eleventh Circuit explained that "Graham dictates unambiguously that the force used by a police officer in carrying out an arrest must be reasonably proportionate to the need for that force, which is measured by the severity of the crime, the danger to the officer, and the risk of flight." Lee, supra, 284 F.3d at 1198.

K-9 Force

The practice of police departments authorizing officers to use trained police dogs to find, seize and hold suspects, by biting if necessary, has been upheld by the courts. See: Kerr v. City of West Palm Beach, 875 F.2d 1546 (11 Cir. 1989); Chew v. Gates, 744 F.Supp. 952 (C.D.Cal. 1990). However, whether a particular use of force is a sufficient intrusion, so as to violate a suspect's Fourth Amendment rights, is subject to analysis under Graham v. Connor, supra.

Analysis of complaint

In the present case, the plaintiff claims that in spite of his compliance with the deputy's order to get down on the ground, Keitz allowed the K-9 to attack him, while he was disarmed and vulnerable. At this preliminary stage he has stated a claim against Deputy Keitz for use of unlawful force.

He further alleges that Deputy Sheriff Clark took him into custody, refusing to respond to his requests for emergency medical aid. Although Clark is not formally named as a defendant in the complaint, he is named in the body of the complaint. In light of the plaintiff's pro-se status he will be construed as a named defendant.

The Eighth Amendment prohibits any punishment which violates civilized standards of decency or "involve[s] the unnecessary and wanton infliction of pain." Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 102-03 (1976) (quoting Gregg v. Georgia, 428 U.S. 153, 173(1976)); see also Campbell v. Sikes, 169 F.3d 1353, 1363 (11 Cir. 1999).

Because the plaintiff was a pretrial detainee at the time of the events alleged, his claims must be analyzed under the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment rather than the Cruel and Unusual Punishment Eighth Amendment standard. Bell, 441 U.S. at 535; Hamm, 774 F.2d at 1571-74. In the context of a pretrial detainee claim of denial of medical care, the standards are the same. Id.

To demonstrate a claim for denial or delay of medical treatment the plaintiff must demonstrate deliberate indifference. Deliberate indifference can be established by evidence that necessary medical treatment has been withheld or delayed for non-medical or unexplained reasons. Farrow v West, 320 F.3d 1235, 1247 (11th Cir.2003) (finding jury question on issue of deliberate indifference because of unexplained fifteen-month delay in treatment). In this case, it is difficult to determine the extent of the plaintiff's injuries at the time of his being taken into custody, and whether his injuries were of a severity that required immediate, emergency medical attention. The length of time the plaintiff's medical treatment was delayed is also unclear. Therefore, without further factual development, it appears the plaintiff has minimally stated a claim against Deputy Clark for delay of medical treatment.

Lastly, the plaintiff has failed to state a claim against Sheriff Loar, and the complaint should be dismissed against Loar under the theory of respondeat superior. If a plaintiff sues a supervisor, there must be proof that the alleged injuries resulted from an official custom, policy, or practice. Monell v. Department of Social Services, 436 U.S. 658, 694 (1978); Mandel v. Doe, 888 F.2d 782 (11 Cir. 1989). The plaintiff bears the burden of establishing a causal link between a government policy or custom and the injury which is alleged. Byrd v. Clark, 783 F.3d 1002, 1008 (11 Cir. 1986) (citing Monell, supra). See also; Ashcroft v Iqbal, supra. (Heightened pleading standard for supervisory liability) In this case there are no direct allegations against Loar, that he either took part in the assault upon the plaintiff, or was aware of the circumstances, and he should be dismissed from the lawsuit.³

The plaintiff has not specified whether he intends to sue the defendants in their individual and official capacities. A §1983 suit against the defendants in their official capacity is tantamount to a suit against the State, and thus the defendants would be immune from monetary damages based upon the Eleventh Amendment. Gamble v. Fla. Dept. of Health and Rehabilitative Services, 779 F.2d 1509, 1512-13 (11 Cir. 1986). The allegations of the complaint, however, state a classic case of officials acting outside the scope of their duties and in an arbitrary manner. Scheuer v. Rhodes, 416 U.S. 232, 238 (1974). Under this construction of the complaint, this Court has jurisdiction over the defendants in their individual capacity.

III. Recommendation

Based on the foregoing, it is recommended that:

- 1.The claim of excessive force under the Fourth Amendment shall proceed against Defendant Officer Keitz.
- 2.The claim for delay of medical treatment should proceed against Defendant Clark.
3. Sheriff Loar should be dismissed for failure to state a claim against him.

³ Although Indian River County is listed as a defendant on the docket, and a review of the complaint indicates that the Indian River County Sheriff's Department may have been named as a separate defendant, both defendants are improper. These defendants are not separate entities for purposes of 1983, but an arm of the county. The plaintiff must demonstrate that a county custom or policy is unconstitutional and led to a violation of the plaintiff's civil rights. Monell, supra. CASE NO. 11-14210-CIV-MARTINEZ
MAGISTRATE JUDGE P. A. WHITE

ANTHONY S. QUINLIN,	:
Plaintiff,	:
v.	:	ORDER SCHEDULING PRETRIAL
KEVIN KEITZ, et al.,	:	PROCEEDINGS WHEN PLAINTIFF
Defendants.	:	IS PROCEEDING PRO SE

The plaintiff in this case is incarcerated, without counsel, so that it would be difficult for either the plaintiff or the defendants to comply fully with the pretrial procedures required by Local Rule 16.1 of this Court. It is thereupon

ORDERED AND ADJUDGED as follows:

1. All discovery methods listed in Rule 26(a), Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, shall be completed by January 3, 2012. This shall include all motions relating to discovery.

2. All motions to join additional parties or amend the pleadings shall be filed by January 17, 2012.

3. All motions to dismiss and/or for summary judgment shall be filed by March 6, 2012.

4. On or before March 20, 2012, the plaintiff shall file with the Court and serve upon counsel for the defendants a document called "Pretrial Statement." The Pretrial Statement shall contain the following things:

- (a) A brief general statement of what the case is about;
- (b) A written statement of the facts that will be offered by oral or documentary evidence at trial; this means that the plaintiff must explain what he intends to prove at trial and how he intends to prove it;
- (c) A list of all exhibits to be offered into evidence at the trial of the case;
- (d) A list of the full names and addresses of places of employment for all the non-inmate witnesses that the plaintiff intends to call (the plaintiff must notify the Court of any changes in their addresses);
- (e) A list of the full names, inmate numbers, and places of incarceration of all the inmate witness that plaintiff intends to call (the plaintiff must notify the Court of any changes in their places of incarceration); and
- (f) A summary of the testimony that the plaintiff expects each of his witnesses to give.

5. On or before April 5, 2012, defendants shall file and serve upon plaintiff a "Pretrial Statement," which shall comply with paragraph 4(a)-(f).

6. Failure of the parties to disclose fully in the Pretrial Statement the substance of the evidence to be offered at trial may result in the exclusion of that evidence at the trial. Exceptions will be (1) matters which the Court determines were not discover-able at the time of the pretrial conference, (2) privileged matters, and (3) matters to be used solely for impeachment purposes.

7. If the plaintiff fails to file a Pretrial Statement, as required by paragraph 4 of this order, paragraph 5 of this order shall be suspended and the defendants shall notify the Court of plaintiff's failure to comply. The plaintiff is cautioned that failure to file the Pretrial Statement may result in dismissal of this case for lack of prosecution.

8. The plaintiff shall serve upon defense counsel, at the address given for him/her in this order, a copy of every pleading, motion, memorandum, or other paper submitted for consideration by the Court and shall include on the original document filed with the Clerk of the Court a certificate stating the date that a true and correct copy of the pleading, motion, memorandum, or other paper was mailed to counsel. All pleadings, motions, memoranda, or other papers shall be filed with the Clerk and must include a certificate of service or they will be disregarded by the Court.

9. A pretrial conference may be set pursuant to Local Rule 16.1 of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida, after the pretrial statements have been filed. Prior to such a conference, the parties or their counsel shall meet in a good faith effort to:

- (a) discuss the possibility of settlement;
- (b) stipulate (agree) in writing to as many facts and issues as possible to avoid unnecessary evidence;
- (c) examine all exhibits and documents proposed to be used at the trial, except that impeachment documents need not be revealed;

- (d) mark all exhibits and prepare an exhibit list;
- (e) initial and date opposing party's exhibits;
- (f) prepare a list of motions or other matters which require Court attention; and
- (g) discuss any other matters that may help in concluding this case.

10. All motions filed by defense counsel must include a proposed order for the undersigned Magistrate Judge's signature.

DONE AND ORDERED at Miami, Florida, this 19th day of October, 2011.
